Discover Critical Insights for Protecting Students, Educators & School Staff

Tragedies such as the senseless shootings in Parkland, FL, Lexington Park, MD and Sandy Hook, CT have brought increased attention to school safety. The 2019 NextGen School Safety Conference will focus on steps that schools can take to prevent tragedies such as Parkland and Sandy Hook, while also addressing steps that can be taken to prevent “everyday” tragedies – such as a teacher incurring a back injury, a teenager suffering a concussion or a second grader stepping in front of a school bus.

As important as it is to prevent intruder episodes and other forms of violence, statistics reveal that a student is twice as likely to die from suicide and 5 times as likely to succumb to some form of unintentional injury.

At the NextGen School Safety Conference, school safety coordinators, school resource officers, principals, heads of school, superintendents, board members, student services directors, risk management directors, loss control coordinators, health services coordinators, school nurses and human resources personnel will come together to focus on all aspects of improving the physical safety of students and educators.

Featured Topics:
- Lessons Learned from Parkland, Sandy Hook & Marshall County
- Creating a School Climate Where Students and Staff Feel Safe

While intruder events demand increased prevention efforts, personal attacks and unintentional injuries continue to pose serious threats to students and educators. The negative impact on school culture and academic achievement is difficult to measure when 7% of high school students report recently being threatened with a weapon and 6% report missing school due to fear for their safety. Discover critical insights at the NextGen School Safety Conference – focused exclusively on protecting students, educators and staff in PK-12 schools.

Featured Presenters

Vaughn Baker is President of Strategos International, a Kansas City firm that has provided security training to more than 130,000 professionals in 15 countries. Strategos originally focused on training professional first responders, such as law enforcement, in a wide variety of tactical-related topics. In 2007 Vaughn and his associates at Strategos saw the need to begin providing training to the “True First Responder” — those who are on-scene when the crisis begins. He has personally trained thousands of school, healthcare, government, law enforcement and military personnel in security practices. Vaughn has developed specialized intruder response curriculum (including some of the nation’s leading training on behavior pattern recognition) for schools and churches. He spent a number of years in law enforcement including patrol, investigation, SWAT and special operations duties. He also served as deputy director of training for the Surefire Institute, a California-based tactical training company. Vaughn is the author of The Church Security Handbook and co-author of Active Threat.

Dr. J. Stuart Ablon is the Director of ThinkKids in the Department of Psychiatry at Massachusetts General Hospital. He is also Associate Professor and the Thomas G. Stemberg Endowed Chair in Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Ablon is author of the books Changeable: The Surprising Science Behind Helping Anyone Change, Treating Explosive Kids: The Collaborative Problem Solving Approach, and The School Discipline Fix. Dr. Ablon received his doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of California at Berkeley and completed his training at Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School. A dynamic and engaging speaker, Dr. Ablon was ranked #5 on A Dynamic and engaging speaker, Dr. Ablon was ranked #5 on the list of the world’s top rated keynote speakers in the academic arena. Dr. Ablon trains parents, educators and clinicians, and helps organizations throughout the world implement the Collaborative Problem Solving approach.

Robert Jackson, author of The No More Excuses Curriculum is a national speaker, consultant and trainer. Robert lettered four years in both football and track at Western Kentucky University. After being cut from the NFL Minnesota Vikings during training camp, he has remained firmly committed to his community as a mentor for young men. He currently presents workshops and speeches nationwide to youth and adults. As a consultant and speaker, Robert works to reverse the dropout rates of black and Latino males and to create positive change in school systems across the country to bridge the gap between parents, teachers, administrators and students.

Rick Shaw is the founder, CEO and CDO of Awareity — a developer of innovative, web-based incident prevention platforms for students, employees and communities. He has more than 20 years of experience performing numerous types of assessments (risk, threat, compliance, physical, information security, social media and others) with a focus on prevention processes across multiple industries and multiple types of threats. Rick’s experiences combined with extensive research using post-event reports, lawsuits and surveys has helped expose the biggest threats and the most dangerous disconnects and liabilities facing schools — including new threats and liabilities related to social media. In addition to working with organizational leaders, Rick’s passion is student and child safety, and he leads an extensive research effort at Awareity to help educational leaders understand the need for comprehensive and proven prevention solutions to improve student safety and prevent escalating consequences of sexual abuse, bullying, cyberbullying, campus violence, suicide, human trafficking and alcohol/drug abuse.

Dr. Jennifer Hartstein is a child and family psychologist and a past contributing psychologist for CBS’ The Early Show. She has published and presented on teen-related issues, and has been asked to speak as an expert on a variety of psychological issues on media outlets that include Dr. Oz, The Today Show and CBS This Morning. “Dr. Jen” is the founder of Hartstein Psychological Services, a group psychotherapy practice in New York City. She has received intensive training in adolescent suicide assessment and has specialized in this population for several years. Prior to entering private practice, “Dr. Jen” was the Clinical Director of the Discovery Center at the Child and Family Institute of St Luke’s-Roosevelt Hospital Center. She is currently an Adjunct Professor at Yeshiva University. Dr. Jen serves with both Active Minds and We’re All a Little “Crazy” to promote mental health. She is a self-esteem ambassador for Dove’s Real Beauty campaign and was on the advisory board for MTV’s A Thin Line. She is the author of Princess Recovery: A How-to Guide for Raising Strong, Empowered Girls Who Can Create Their Own Happily Ever Afters. Author of Roadmap to Responsibility. Larry Thompson is often called upon to deliver keynote presentations for education conferences because of his knowledge, humor and passion for assisting today’s students. Larry has served in a wide variety of roles in education – from special education teacher to coach to alternative school principal to traditional high school principal. His Responsibility-Centered Discipline program has helped thousands of educators throughout North America break away from traditional discipline programs to a sustainable model that creates a responsible climate and responsible students.
